Alberta Joins Diefenbaker Stampede

RT. HON. JOHN DIEFENBAKER, prime minister of Canada, called for the prayers of Canadian people in a cross-country television broadcast Monday night. Asserting his belief that divine guidance was needed in important decisions his victorious Progressive Conservative government must make in the future, he said, "I earnestly ask much prayer for myself and the members of my government."

Solid Phalanx of 17 P.C.'s Will Fill Alberta Seats At Ottawa

EDMONTON (BUP) — Who are Alberta's new members of Parliament? Jack Horner who won the riding of Acadia, is a rancher. He is a newcomer to politics, but is the son of Senator Ralph Horner of Blaine Lake, Sask.

Jack Bigg, the former RCMP sergeant, defeated the Liberals to take their remaining seat in Alberta—Athabasca. He is married with two children and plans to start a law practice in northern Alberta.

Cliff Smallwood, the new member for Battle River-Camrose, was an unsuccessful candidate in the 1957 election. He is a farmer from the Irma district.

Eldon Woolliams, who missed being elected in Bow River last June by a mere 300 votes, was victorious in his second bid. He is a 36-year-old Calgary lawyer.

Calgary North re-elected Agricultural Minister Douglas Harkness with an increased majority. Harkness is a farmer and former teacher who has had a seat in the commons since 1945.

Calgary South returned Art Smith to Ottawa as its representative. Smith, a former Calgary alderman and member of the legislature, was first elected to parliament last year. He is a 35-year-old oil expert.

William Skoreyko, an Edmonton garage owner, unseated Ambrose Holowach in Edmonton East. Skoreyko, age 32, had a 9,000 vote majority.

Terry Nugent, Edmonton lawyer, is the member for Edmonton-Strathcona. Nugent, a former coal miner, came close to taking the seat in the last election.

Marcel Lambert, the 38-year-old parliamentary assistant to the Minister of National Defence, was chosen again by Edmonton West to represent them at Ottawa. Lambert, a former Rhodes scholar and lawyer, captured the urban riding from the Liberals last June.

Dr. Hugh Horner of Barrhead was elected in Jasper-Edson. He is another son of Senator Horner

Becomes Town

EDMONTON — The village of Grand Centre, in the Cold Lake district 150 miles northeast of Edmonton, will become a town April 1.

Alberta Follows Lead of Eastern Provinces

EDMONTON—Progressive Conservatives captured 209 seats in Monday's general election.

Key province in the win was Quebec where the Tories came through with a majority of that province's seats for the first time since 1887.

The landslide all but wiped out the Social Credit and CCF party representation in Western Canada.

PC's picked up a seat from Lester B. Pearson's Liberals in Nova Scotia and two in New Brunswick and tightened their previous stranglehold on political Ontario.

There was still one riding to be heard from at press time—Kenora-Rainy River in Ontario.

National Standing—(265 seats): PC's, 209; Lib., 47; CCF, 8; Social Credit, 0; Others, 0.

The deceased was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Cardinal and the late Adelaide Cardinal. A sister, who was injured in the same accident, was released from hospital in time to attend the funeral.

PLAMONDON—Plamondon Co-op and Plamondon Mercantile have installed new refrigeration show cases in their stores. They report a great improvement on the previous refregeration system.

The Plamondon Mercantile is having a spring cleaning. A new coat of paint will enhance the interior.

Bride-To-Be Feted At Shower

LAC LA BICHE—Miss Larrette Duhamel, whose marriage to Paul L'Heureux, is an event of April 8, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held March 26 at the home of Mrs. Willie Tardiff. Some 70 ladies were present. The gifts were presented in a beautifully decorated baby carriage. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. A. L. L'Heureux and Lillian Gauthier.

Exultant Tories Anticipate Victory In Next Provincial Election

By ERNEST MARDON

EDMONTON (BUP) — Progressive Conservatives who have stormed the Social Credit stronghold of Alberta federally, are not expected to be content until they have defeated the 23-year-old Social Credit provincial government.

Alberta returned three Conservatives to the last parliament. The new commons will see 17 Albertans sitting on the Tory side of the House.

Conservative Party officials in Edmonton said "March 31, 1958 will go down in Canadian history as the "Ides of March" for the Social Credit movement in this country. This election was the death knell—The party will never be able to recover from it.

The followers of the monetary theorists of the late Major Douglas, the Briish economist, took over in this province during the

TORIES SWEEP ALL 17 SEATS; WIPE OUT LIBERALS, SOCREDS

By T. W. PUE

An historic event took place here in Alberta on Monday, when the people of Alberta turned their backs on the Social Credit and Liberal parties and turned in a 100% election of Progressive Conservative candidates. There are 17 federal ridings in Alberta and there will be 17 Diefenbaker men from the Foothills Province, sitting in the House of Commons in Ottawa.

On Monday night, from 6:00 p.m. I was assisting in the job of tabulating election returns at the British United Press office in Edmonton. From the time the first returns came in the trend was set—Conservatives blanked out all other parties. By 7:00 p.m. we were sure that Art Smith, Calgary South had been elected. By 8:00 p.m. we had to concede election to the Tories of every one of the remaining 16 seats.

END OF SOCIAL CREDIT?

No political observer that I know would have dared to suggest the loss of more than two or three Alberta ridings to the Social Credit party. But by 8:00 p.m. Monday there it was. Social Credit was out. Not only in Alberta, but in all of Canada.

Probably this shouldn't be too surprising to us. On two previous occasions, Albertans have thrown out the party in power in one fell sweep. In 1921 the Liberal party was almost completely eliminated when the U.F.A. got their promises of Utopia across to the Alberta farmer. There was a depression then. The bottom had fallen out of the wheat market. Cattle had dropped from 15c a pound to 5c. It had been a hard winter. The farmers of Alberta changed the government, lock, stock and barrel.

For 14 years the U.F.A. was in power. They won every Provincial election "hand down" and in the mind of the Alberta electorate could do no wrong. The Liberals were in power in Ottawa in 1921 but Alberta sent a complete slate of U.F.A. members to the House of Commons. Charlie Stewart, Alberta's Liberal cabinet minister had to find a seat in Quebec; otherwise Alberta would have been left with no representation on the federal cabinet.

Then came 1935 and another depression. The price of wheat had slid to 19c per bushel. Cattle had fallen to 1c per pound Alberta farmers counldn't get enough for their animals to pay the freight charges. There had been five full years of Conservative government in Ottawa and 14 years of U.F.A. rule in Edmonton. Albertans were ready for change and characteristi-

Electors Send Former R.C.M.P. To Ottawa

WESTLOCK, (BUP) — Jack Bigg, whose mother was among the few white women to arrive on the western prairies 70 years ago, is the new Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Athabasca.

Bigg received 8,578 votes in Monday's federal election. It was his first bid for political office. The Athabasca riding was held by Liberal, Joseph Dechene in the last parliament. Dechene, age 79, did not seek re-election.

Other candidates were Liberal Joachim Renaud, 64-year-old Liberal Mayor of Westlock (3,796); Social Crediter, Archie McPhail (3,495), and C.C.F. Nick Baron (731).

Bigg resigned from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to run as a Tory candidate. He had been in charge of the Westlock detachment for the past five years. He hails from Prince Albert, Saskatchewan where he was born in 1912. He is a long-time friend of Mr. Diefenbaker. He is married with two daughters and intends to open a legal practice in the riding in the near future.

Lac la Biche Mission Hockey Team Downs Konowalchuk's Red Wings

Father Picotte's hockey team from the Lac la Biche Mission downed Walter Konowalchuk's Lac la Biche Red Wings in a hard-fought battle at the Lac la Biche rink. The Wings were aided by Tallel Abougoush of the Leafs, Danny Baglot and Steve Chernychyn of the Rangers, Johnnie Paterson of the Bruins and Foster Stewart of the Black Hawks.

Richard Lechochinski of the Leafs played defence while the regular Wing goal Marshall Tremblay was between the twines. The Wing forward line was made up of Walter Konowalchuk, Ernie Thom and Robert Thom while Clarence Thom played defence.

The regular Mission goalie Gerrard Bourque was moved to the forward line where he scored the games first goal, late in the first period. Roger Lizotte took his place in the nets.

Danny Baglot tied things up for the Wings as he scored mid-way through the second period. In the third period Roland Boutet and Morris Albas each scored once to make the final score 3-1. Albert Hebert was the other lineman. On the second line were Daniel Albas, Gilles Schwab, Ed Caron, Marcel Parent, and Philip Durand. The Wings missed several chances to tie things up as they shot wide of the open net on a number of occasions. Jimmie McCormick looked after the Lac la Biche coaching chores, while Joe Cunningham was timer. Referees were Donnie Michetti and Gordie McCormick. After the game both teams were treated to ice cream and a beverage.

Town Adopts 1957 Assessment Figures; Tax Arrears Discussed By Council

LAC LA BICHE—At the regular meeting of the town council, March 25, Councillors Eli Tkachuk, Harry Lobay and L. Vincent were present as well as Mayor Steve Hamar and Secretary F. D. Creighton.

The assessment figures for lands, buildings and improvements for the year 1957, were adopted for use in 1958. A by-law to authorize tax arrears consolidation agreements for the current year was given first and second readings. Some discussion took place concerning ammending the town's business tax and licensing by-laws, but the question was tabled until the next meeting of council.

The question of licensing fur farmers within the jurisdiction of the town was again discussed after having been introduced earlier by Dr. Brown of the Athabasca Health Unit, but no definite action was taken at the meeting, except that the secretary was instructed to prepare a by-law to be introduced at the next meeting of council, which would deal with licensing of fur farmers.

Council discussed the advisability of purchasing an accounting machine which had been demonstrated a few days before at the town offices. It was decided not to buy the machine at this time.

A letter was read from a property owner complaining that a power pole was located directly in line with his driveway. The secretary was asked to contact the power company to see if the matter could be rectified.

A letter was read from the Department of Lands and Forests regarding the terms of granting a recreational lease to the town for all accrued areas lying between the town and the lake. The matter is to be taken up more fully at a later meeting.

A letter of resignation from Police Constable F. J. Beavan was read and a motion was passed accepting the resignation. The secretary was asked to advertise for a town constable.

Some consideration was given to taking the town census, and this will also be decided at a later meeting.

Mention was made that it might be wise to explore the possibility of selling debentures locally for financing planned improvements to the Memorial hall. Ratepayers have already approved the borrowing of $12,000 for such purposes but the urgently needed repairs to the hall cannot be proceeded with, until a buyer, or buyers, are found for the debentures.

Accounts totalling $1,183.79 were passed for payment. The meeting adjourned at midnight.

cally they swung over completely to a new party and a new set of ideas. This was the advent of Social Credit. It promised an end to the depression and $25.00 per month.

On August 22nd, 1935 Social Credit swept the Province and the Aberhart government was safely in power in the Legislature with a [illegible] majority. A week later in the federal election in [illegible] Liberals beat the R. B. Bennett Conservatives Social Credit filled 16 of the 17 federal seats.

Now, Social Credit has held the Alberta electorate in its spell for 23 years. This is 7 years longer than the original Liberal party held sway, from 1905 to 1921 and 9 years longer than the U.F.A., from 1921 to 1935.

Once again. Alberta has confounded the political experts by sweeping all its 17 federal seats into one party and has forsaken completely its dream of Social Credit and $25.00 per month. It may be argued that Social Credit is still in power in Alberta, but everyone knows that the party stalwarts were dependent upon the success of the "On to Ottawa" drive to get into power federally before its peculiar monetary theories could be put to the test.

In a sense, you could say that Alberta is heading back to the political situation in existence at the time of Confederation in 1905. At that time the province had Liberal representation in a Liberal government in Ottawa and there was a Liberal provincial government in power in Edmonton.

Will Alberta do it again? With a depression in farm prices and swollen unemployment, will the next provincial government be Conservative?

Of course, Mr. Manning has until 1960 to call another election. A lot can happen in two years.

Meanwhile, political savants are saying that the handwriting is on the wall, and after the next provincial vote, Social Credit will be only a memory.

One answer to the new political climate may be the old argument that Socal Crediters are just Tories at heart, anyway, and when they got a chance to get on a real Conservative bandwagon they did it.

Another explanation is that Mr. Diefenbaker, with an air of religious sanctity and a stable full of political promises has replaced the Aberhart (Bible Bill) offer of Utopia of 1935 and the 1921 heaven of the old UFA party.

Personally, I don't agree with either of these explanations. My own theory is that the people of Alberta were ready for a change and when they change — brother, they change.

Peace River, Solon Low's seat in parliament since 1945, elected Tory Lawyer Gerald Baldwin. Low was the national leader of the Social Credit party. He and his group's 19 members of the last House, were defeated.

Harris Rogers, a retired DVA agent, was the successful Tory candidate in Red Deer. It was Rogers second bid to enter parliament. He was the Conservative organizer who worked during the winter and was given credit for the Tory landslide victory in Alberta.

Major Frank Fane, a veteran of two world wars, is the new member for Vegreville. Fane, a Mundare district farmer, unseated Socred Peter Stefura, who had captured the riding from the Liberals last June.

depression years of the 1930's. They took over both provincially and federally in Alberta in 1935, under the able leadership of the late Wiliam (Bible Bill) Aberhart.

Last year, Solon Low, National S.C. leader, declared "A March on Ottawa". The party fielded a total of 114 candidates last June. Nineteen of them were elected—13 in Alberta and six in British Columbia. The March on the federal capital did not get beyond the Saskatchewan border.

This election, Low said his party would hold its own despite inroads of a revitalized Tory party. The Socreds had 82 candidates in Monday's election, but failed to get one elected or re-elected.

Low himself went down to defeat at the hands of Peace River Tory Lawyer, Gerald Baldwin. He said last night that the fight would go on, but admitted his party had been badly licked in the election.

Ambrose Holowach, who was rumored as next national leader of the group, termed the election a disaster with no opposition in parliament. The Socreds had campaigned this time under the slogan that they had the only cure for the current recession—monetary reform.

The Legislature is currently in session. The public galleries were crowded Tuesday afternoon. The Conservatives hold only three seats in the 61 member chamber. Premier Manning's Social Credit Government has 37 and the Official Opposition—the Liberals—hold 17.

The last provincial election was held in 1955, so Premier Manning has until early 1960 to call the next one.

The Conservatives, who have not had an Alberta leader since the 1930's, are planning to hold a leadership convention this summer. Mid-June has been mentioned as a possible date.

This province has never had a Tory government since it was formed in 1905. The Liberals held office until 1920, when the United Farmers took over. The FUA were defeated by the Socreds in 1935.

Douglas Harkness's farm price support bill, introduced in the last session of parliament, was believed to have caused the farmers on the prairies to swing behind the Diefenbaker Government.

The popular vote in the province showed the Tories with 64 percent —no contest was ever in doubt after the first few results were in. All 17 Conservatives were conceded elected within 100 minutes of the polls closing.

The Liberals lost their last remaining seat, Athabasca, in Alberta. They ran second to Tories in four ridings while the Socreds were second in 11 others.

Among veteran Social Crediters who failed to get re-elected were three of the first group of Socreds sent to Ottawa 23 years ago. They were John Blackmore in Lethbridge; Charles Johnston in Bow River and Rev. Ernest George Hansell in Macleod.

The Conservatives elected five lawyers—Marcel Lambert, parliament assistant to the Minister of National Defence in Edmonton West, Jack Bigg in Athabasca, Terry Nugent in Edmonton-Strathcona, Baldwin in Peace River and Eldon Woolliams in Bow River.

One Tory doctor is a new member of parliament—he is Dr. Hugh Horner of Barrhead who defeated Socred Charles Yuill in Jasper-Edson. Horner's younger brother, rancher Jack, was successful in Acadia.

Other farmer-ranchers elected included Cliff Smallwood in Battle River-Camrose; Deane Gundlock in Lethbridge; Edwin Brunsden in Medicine Hat; Frank Fane in Vegreville and James Speakman in Wetaskiwin.

Liberals obtained 14 percent of the popular vote in Alberta. The Socialists who fielded 14 candidates, the Communist two nominees and two independents received between them only 2 percent of the popular vote.

It was the first time in the history of Alberta, one political party had captured all 17 federal seats.
